WRITTEN OPINION

International application No.
PCT/US02/06601

V. Reasoned statement under Rule 66.2(a)(ii) with regard to novelty, inventive step or industrial applicability; citations and explanations supporting such statement

1. STATEMENT

Novelty (N)	Claims NONE	YES
	Claims 1-48	NO
Inventive Step (IS)	Claims NONE	YES
	Claims 1-48	NO
Industrial Applicability (IA)	Claims 1-48	YES
	Claims NONE	NO

2. CITATIONS AND EXPLANATIONS

Claims 1-48 lack novelty and inventive step under PCT Article 33(3) as being obvious over Byvik et al (4,890,915).

With respect to claims 1,40, Byvik discloses a method for monitoring a crystal fiber. The method comprises: directing a test light 18 (fig 1) toward a side of a crystal fiber 14 (fig 1), detecting (spectrometer, fig 1) the measurement light emerging from the crystal fiber, monitoring the quantity of the fiber (abstract).

With respect to claims 2-3,13,17,19-22,39, Byvik does not explicitly disclose the claimed limitations as claimed. However, the claimed limitations would have been known in the art. It would have been obvious to modify Byvik's method with the known claimed limitations in order to improve the system performance. The modification involves only routine skill in the art.

With respect to claims 4,6,7-8,31, Byvik does not explicitly disclose the measurement spectrum. However, it would have been obvious a designed choice to modify Byvik's method with different measurement spectrum to monitor different characteristics of the fiber.

With respect to claims 5,9-11,33-34,Byvik does not disclose the function as claimed. However, the claimed function would have been known. It would have been obvious to combine the known function with Byvik to make the system more accurate. The modification involves only routine skill in the art.

With respect to claims 12,16,18,23-25,32, since Byvik discloses determining the characteristic of the fiber (abstract), Byvik inherently performs the claimed limitations.

With respect to claims 14-15,26-29, 35-37,44-45, 47, Byvik does not disclose the claimed limitations. It would have been obvious to modify Byvik with the claimed limitations as claimed to make the system more accurate. The modification involves only routine skill in the art.

With respect to claim 30, refer to discussion in claim 1 above. Further, Byvik discloses a broadband light source 18 (fig 1).

With respect to claim 38, Byvik discloses using crystal fiber for testing (abstract).

With respect to claims 41-43,46,48 Byvik does not disclose a controller. However, using a controller to control the test light and the detector would have been known. It would have been obvious to modify Byvik with the known controller to make the system more efficient.

Claims 1-48 meet the criteria set out in PCT Article 33(4), because the invention is useful to the industry.
